

Quality

Description

The Thematic Working Group on Quality seeks to provide examples of models of good practice for quality assurance in lifelong learning in partner institutions or other examples as appropriate.

The research will focus on how quality assurance is practiced in lifelong learning settings.

The TWG on Quality wish to explore the dichotomy presented in this project between research and practice. Does this dichotomy truly exist and if so why is this the case? Are practitioners researchers in action? How can they be enabled to write up their own research? What methods would enable them to do so?
